Junhee Han, Bass-Baritone -Biography-

Junhee Han, Dramatic Baritone, is already making his mark as an international opera singer both in South Korea and the United States. He has won awards in competitions such as the Presidential Vocal Competition and the Central Vocal competition in Korea. He performed with the Seoul City Symphony Orchestra and the Korean Broadcasting Symphony Orchestra. Junhee also made regular appearances with concerts and music festivals in both Seoul and Ulsan City in Korea. Clearly Mr. Han has established himself a multitalented opera singer as is evident with his powerful and a deep baritone voice.

His relentless pursuit of music brought Mr. Han to the United States where he has achieved two Master's degrees in Voice and Opera at Oklahoma City University and Temple University respectively. During this period of study, he won first place in the NATZ Vocal Competition and the Clamuze Vocal Competition. Junhee Han's versatility as an artist is evident with his success of performance in such roles as Filippo II' in Don Carlo, Belcore in Elixir of Love, Ramiro in L'heure Espagnole, Speaker in Magic Flute, Orphee in Le Malheurs D'orphee, Mr. Ford in Falstaff, Crespel in Hoffmann, Don Gioavanni in Don Giovanni, Emperor in Le Rossignol, Colline in La Boheme, and Bartolo in Le Nozze di Figaro.

Junhee Han was born and raised in South Korea, and he received his Bachelors degree at Keimyung University. He has been established as an operatic baritone based on strong academic backgrounds and numerous concert engagements.

Mr. Han has just finished his Professional Studies Program at Temple University as well as participating in various opera performances throughout Pennsylvania.
